Pass the Community Centre and the Playground on your left as you leave the village. Continue straight on the tar road for 4 km, Turn right at the forest barrier. You are also joining the Slieve Bloom Way at this point (marked yellow arrow and trekking person logo). Descend along forest road, turn right and follow the path downhill crossing wooden footbridge on the Gorrageh river. Follow the path on the steep incline for 100m joining to the forest road, turn right. Follow the forest road for 1km, turn right on to narrow path and join forest road again for 400m meeting the tar road on Mac's Hill. Follow the tar road for 1km, turn right on to a green laneway. The laneway ends at a tar road. Turn left here and follow the tar road to T-junction turning right and immediately turn follow the red arrows for 500m on the trail and cross the wooden footbridge and turn right and back to the trailhead.

Directions to Trailhead
